Conservation Trees and Shrubs

Prairie Gardens has for years grown thousands of trees and shrubs for conservation use. Because of last summer's weather many of our seedlings were destroyed by drought or heat, while others did not make the expected size. However, we do have some nice shrubs and trees for windbreak, shelterbelt, and wildlife cover plantings. Also, our stock will be replenished from time to time to meet the demand as long as other sources of acceptable supply are available. You are cordially invited to contact us concerning your conservation needs.

Prairie Gardens Landscape Department

We are trained and equipped to do the planning and planting of trees and shrubs for your new home or that new up-to-date look on your remodeled home.

Real estate men estimate that proper landscaping increases the resale value (or value for your pride and enjoyment) as much as 23%. This places your landscape expenditures in the investment class. This statement is doubly true since each season of good care allows your trees and shrubs to better frame your house and add beauty and value to your home.
